

INFORMATION FACT SHEET – YIRENDALI CULTURAL LEARNING CENTRE

Why is HIPCo supporting the design of the Yirendali Cultural Learning Centre?

- Delivers socioeconomic benefits to the Hughenden community.
- HIPCo want this project to be transformative for Hughenden and to leave a lasting legacy broader than just a water project.
- Concept was initiated from considering where artifacts associated with the project could be stored and displayed. This started the thinking about the broader opportunities for having such a centre at Hughenden.
- Meeting obligations under the Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Act 2003 (ACHA)
- Meeting obligations under the Queensland Heritage Act 1992 (QHA)

What is the Cultural Learning Centre?

- Site-specific building which embodies the essence of the Yirendali Story of place and works with the natural systems.
- Embodies long-term sustainable principles which go about to Care for the Country and educate future generations.
- Exhibition of local Indigenous artifacts
- Knowledge Centre/Library
- Tourism functional spaces around key views
- Gift shop and cafe
- Exemplary building for other Cultural Centres around Australia (much like the Stockman's Hall of Fame at Longreach which pays tribute to pioneers of the Australian outback)
